Action .22 Rifles

£ 3,000

Description

1907 with 1914 stock walnut .22 Model 1907 in the new stock 1914 Walnut incl. fore-end raiser block and hand stop A011905 Many target shooters prefer this rifle. Many top national and international results were achieved with it. Like all ANSCHÜTZ models the 1907 has been permanently improved. The precise and individually adjustable match trigger and the extremely short locktime allow a precise shot release. Barreled action: The famous ANSCHÜTZ match 54 action was integrated in the renowned small bore barreled action of the 1907 and this is the basis for an unsurpassed sport rifle which meets the high requirements of top class shooters. The locktime is extremely short. Stock: Non-stained thumbhole stock adjustable in length with a very slim fore-end and adjustable hook butt plate, suitable for all hand sizes. Flat fore-end raiser block 4856 adjustable in height (22-32 mm). Adjustable butt plate and cheek piece adjustment. Large knurled head screws at cheek piece and length adjustment offer high operating comfort without having to use any tools. Stock extension can be positioned continuously with strong threaded columns and knurled nuts. The actuated, positive form and force-fit clamping on the columns guarantee utmost stability. Delivered with: Rifle case, fore-end raiser block 4856, hand stop 6226, screw driver, Allan key, manual and original test target
